

Canine Film Festival

Tails in the City celebrated their three-year anniversary with a glitzy red carpet event tailored to, well, those with tails. Pooches enjoyed a night of movies, glamour, treats and mingling at Tails in the City's Canine Film Festival, which took place at popular Club Level on Friday, May 18. Chicago's top furry stars walked the red carpet and posed for photos with the "puparazzi." Then the dogs were primed and pampered by the Pooch Chicago massage station, the Bobbi Panter beauty lounge, a pet caricature artist, readings from pet intuitive Denise Zak, in addition to canine-friendly movies and popcorn.

To participate in the festival, clients submitted two-minute videos of their dogs that were judged by a panel of local celebrity judges including CBS 2's Susan Carlson, Janet Lee (Founder of Petote dog carriers) and Bobbi Panter (founder of Bobbi Panter Natural Pet Pampering Products). Wag Bags were given to all attendees and other fabulous items were raffled to benefit the Anti-Cruelty Society (ACS), which received the proceeds from the event. TCW gives this one a four paw salute for creativity, fun and fundraising. ■
